

Meet Nick Guarino

The Fastest Mind on Wall Street?

What can you say about a man who got a speeding ticket at age seven? Or who had a run-in with the FBI at age eight? Or became a floor trader at sixteen?

Nicholas A. Guarino, editor of The Wall Street Underground, is simply the fastest and brightest mind we've ever worked with. As publishers of sophisticated financial information, we consider ourselves fairly intelligent, yet we find ourselves totally outclassed by Nick in most ways. (Exception: He can't spell for sour apples.)

His aggressive mind has kept him ahead of the crowd all his life. For example:

- At seven, he figured out how to soup up his go-cart, designed to go 5 mph, to hit 55 mph! The cops finally caught up with him at his front door.

- At eight, he built his own radio transmitter out of old TV sets he'd pulled from garbage cans and used it to make a friend in Moscow. After some correspondence, a tipster in Nick's post office reported his name to the FBI. When agents showed up at his home, they were amazed to find their suspected commie sympathizer was in the second grade.

- After Nick complained bitterly that he was bored to death, his grammar school teachers in New Jersey gave him an I.Q. test. When the score came back at 180, made him retake it. When the second score came back well over 200, they were stounded. What they didn't realize was that their little charge had been reading 20 to 30 books a week since he entered school, and in fact had read most of his parents' Encyclopedia Britannica before the first grade.

- In agony with school, he left home at 14. Inspired by stories of his grandfather's success as a penniless immigrant who became a millionaire grocery magnate, he moved to Manhattan's Lower East Side and before long found work as a gopher with a firm at the New York Stock Exchange. (He was tall for his age.) When Nick was sixteen, his boss fell ill one day and had to leave in the midst of a trading crisis. Nick intuitively knew what trades had to be done, so he put on a trader's coat, marched out onto the floor, and started trading. "Made money, too," Nick says. (Yes, the other traders knew how old he was, but they all liked the spunky kid, so no one squealed!)

Even in his twenties, Nick was enormously successful on Wall Street. In fact, he was getting buyout offers from brokerage competitors who flat-out admitted, "Frankly, kid, you're making us look terrible."

But rather than retiring young, he dived into a lifelong, ferocious effort to correct the corrupt political and financial networks that had completely destroyed his late grandfather's fortune.

Today, he is still very hard at work to warn others of the acute dangers of evil, power-hungry men in positions of influence. In between writing Wall Street Underground and talking with numerous informants, he reads ten thousand pages of economic and political intelligence per week—with near-total comprehension.

He lives in a scenic, secluded place as far from Arkansas as he can get.

A CONFIDENTIAL REPORT FOR SERIOUS INVESTORS

Despite all you have read about the Clinton scandals, you have never seen the whole story—or anything close to it. Here, for the first time, you will see the full horror gathered together thread by thread.

President Bush's Attorney General breaks the bad news to a very angry Clinton. (Sorry, I must condense the conversation greatly. You've got to read his book!)

On a March night in 1986, they met with Reed, Oliver North, and two other CIA men in a musty, poorly-lit World War II ammunition bunker at Camp Robinson outside Little Rock.

After several sharp exchanges and traded insults, Barr said, "The deal we made was to launder our money through your bond business. What we didn't plan on was you ... shrinking our laundry..... That's why we're pulling the operation out of Arkansas. It's become a liability for us. We don't need live liabilities."

"What do ya' mean, live liabilities?" Clinton demanded.

"There's no such thing as a dead liability. It's an oxymoron, get it? Oh, or didn't you Rhodes Scholars study things like that?" Barr snapped.

"What! Are you threatenin' us? Because if ya' are..."

From that point on, Barr was able to smooth things out, and he concluded with the most eye-opening passage of the book:

You and your state have been our greatest asset. The beauty of this, as you know, is that you're a Democrat, and with our ability to influence both parties, this country can get beyond partisan gridlock. Mr. Casey wanted me to pass on to you that unless you f--- up and do something stupid, you're No. 1 on the short list for a shot at the job you've always wanted [meaning the Presidency]. That's pretty heady stuff, Bill. So why don't you help us keep a lid on this and we'll all be promoted together.

You and guys like us are the fathers of the new government. Hell, we're the new covenant.

An amazing statement, wasn't it? Especially for 1986.

Victims No. 10 & 11: Kevin Lyles and Don Henry, two Bryant, Arkansas, teenagers, apparently were a bit too snoopy about the air drops of dope and cash they had observed in the nearby countryside at night (part of the Mena operation).

They were found on the morning of August 23, 1987, having been run over by a train. "They fell asleep on the tracks," according to state medical examiner Fahmy Malak, a Clinton appointee who had earned the anger of the locals by pulling such stunts before.

(Remember when Clinton's late mother, anesthesiologist Virginia Kelley, caused the death of two patients by neglect? Malak was the one who cleared her. Malak once even declared that a decapitated man had died of "natural causes," a ruling Clinton defended as a mere symptom of overwork.)

Malak's opinion caused a big ruckus locally. Eventually, the boys' irate parents managed to get a second coroner's opinion, and the official causes of death were changed to being stabbed in the back and getting a crushed skull before the train came. At this point...

Victims No. 12 through 17. ...six local people came forward independently, each claiming to have some special knowledge about the deaths of the boys on the track.

All were slain before their testimony could do any good. Police involvement is suspected in most cases, but not all:

- Keith Coney had been slashed in the neck and was fleeing for his life when his motorcycle slammed into the back of a truck. "A traffic fatality," police said.

- Gregory Collins was found shot in the face by a shotgun.

- Keith McKaskle was brutally stabbed at home—113 times. (He knew he was doomed, and had told his friends and family goodbye.)

- The burned body of Jeff Rhodes was found in the city dump, shot in the head—and with his hands, feet, and head partly cut off.

- Richard Winters was killed by a man with a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun.

- Jordan Ketelson died of a shotgun blast to the head and was found in the driveway of a house in Garland County. "A suicide," the sheriff said.

Do you see a pattern here?

All in all, after ten years of Mena operations, not one arrest was ever made, an accomplishment that is possible only when someone controls the whole state like a collie controls sheep.

Victim No. 18. Danny Casolaro was a reporter who was investigating the connections between Mena, BCCI, Iran-Contra, Reagan's "October Surprise," Park-on-Meter Co. (which made dope-storage nose cones for the airplanes at Mena), and the ADFA (Clinton's billion-dollar state bonds racket). He affectionately called this network The Octopus. On August 10, 1991, just as he was about to receive information linking Iran-Contra to the Inslaw scandal, Danny was found with his wrists slit in the bathtub of a hotel room in West Virginia. What a coincidence. We all remember this incident.

Victim No. 19. Paul Wilcher, a Washington, D.C., lawyer, was deeply investigating Mena and other scandals. He was scheduled for a meeting with Danny Casolaro's former attorney, but on June 22,

Officials quiet on allegations Harmon beat ex-wife, threatened neighbor

BY RODNEY BOWERS
Democrat-Gazette Benton Bureau

BENTON — Officials continued to maintain their silence Tuesday about what, if anything, will be done about allegations that Prosecuting Attorney Dan Harmon beat his ex-wife, and threatened her and a neighbor.

Police presented the case to City Attorney Sam Ed Gibson on Feb. 22 and asked him to review the files to determine if charges might be warranted.

Police Chief Rick Elmendorf, who was out of his office Tuesday, said last week that he would have no further comment.

He said any statement about the case would have to come from Gibson.

Gibson did not return telephone messages left this past week at his office, and a receptionist said he did not wish to talk to a reporter who stopped by the office Tuesday.

Mayor Mitch McDonald said Tuesday that any action "will be up to the city attorney."

Teresa Huchingson, 31, told police that Harmon, 50, came to her house Jan. 29. She told an officer that he struck and kicked her, and threatened to kill her if she reported the attack.

A neighbor, Laquada Turner, 36, told police that she walked in on the assault and Harmon also threatened her.

Police did not arrest Harmon, who serves as prosecutor for Saline, Grant and Hot Spring counties.

Harmon has refused to comment to the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, but told the Benton newspaper that he did not harm Huchingson.

The alleged attack on Huchingson followed several similar incidents reported late last year by Harmon's current wife, Holly Harmon, 26.

After one reported assault in December, police observed bruises and red marks on Holly Harmon's neck and a bump on her head.

An officer reported that Harmon also admitted putting a gun to Holly Harmon's head and grabbing her.

Ironically, officers arrested a 22-year-old Benton man and jailed him on suspicion of third-degree battery in a domestic-abuse case the day before Gibson received the Huchingson case.

An officer who arrested the 22-year-old said that the man's wife had a puffy eye, and bruises on her lip and on a foot and toes.

Police have authority to make an arrest if they observe evidence such as injuries in a domestic-abuse case, but Elmendorf said his department did not seek charges against Harmon after the alleged December assault because Holly Harmon did not want to pursue the matter.

Huchingson and Turner have said they want to seek charges against Harmon but have changed their minds, saying they fear what Harmon might do to them.

FOR INFORMATION OF DALLAS, CAPTIONED VICTIMS WERE DISCOVERED IN THE EARLY MORNING HOURS OF AUGUST 23, 1987, WHEN THEIR BODIES HAD BEEN PASSED OVER BY A UNION PACIFIC TRAIN.
 INITIAL INVESTIGATION CONDUCTED REVOLVED AROUND VICTIMS BEING IN A MARIJUANA-INDUCED SLEEP WHEN THE "ACCIDENT" OCCURRED.

DUE TO PARENTAL OUTRAGE AT THE MEDICAL EXAMINER'S RULING, A SECOND AUTOPSY WAS CONDUCTED, AS WELL AS A "SPECIAL

SECOND AUTOPSY REVEALED THAT KEVIN IVES SUSTAINED A BLOW TO THE CHEEK-TEMPLE AREA OF HIS FACE WHICH FRACTURED HIS SKULL. DON HENRY HAD A KNIFE WOUND IN HIS BACK WHICH RADIATED THROUGH HIS CHEST CAVITY. BOTH VICTIMS HAD A SIGNIFICANT AMOUNT OF FROTHY BLOOD IN THEIR LUNGS AS INDICATED BY THE FIRST AUTOPSY REPORT. THIS POINT WAS MENTIONED AGAIN IN THE SECOND AUTOPSY REPORT AS BEING "SIGNIFICANT" OF DISTRESSED BREATHING PRIOR TO DEATH.

THE FBI INVESTIGATION BEGAN WHEN INFORMATION DEVELOPED POINTED TO A LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT COVER-UP INTO THE BOYS' DEATHS. NUMEROUS THEORIES, RUMORS, AND HALF-TRUTHS HAVE BEEN SORTED OUT REGARDING THE ACTUAL OCCURRENCES ON THE EARLY MORNING HOURS OF AUGUST 23, 1987. AFTER CONDUCTING FIVE

Enclosed for Minneapolis and Los Angeles is a 1A envelope containing two copies of a letter from [REDACTED] which was sent to "Unsolved Mysteries" on [REDACTED]

For information of receiving offices, captioned victims were found in the early morning hours of August 23, 1987, after their bodies had been passed over by a Union Pacific train.

The scene was immediately ruled as an accident, as were the deaths of the victims. The medical examiner's report ruled that the boys were in a marijuana-induced sleep when their bodies were passed over by the train. The cause of death was massive trauma, however, ruled accidental. The parents of the victims were outraged at the medical examiner's ruling and began to meet regarding a course of action.

DAN HARMON, a local attorney, and RICHARD GARR, deputy prosecuting attorney for Saline County, approached victims' parents regarding their discontent with the ruling. HARMON offered to act as counsel for the families. Shortly thereafter, DAN HARMON was appointed the "special prosecutor" in the case by Saline County, Arkansas, Judge JOHN COLE.

Little Rock FBI investigation reveals that Benton Chief of Police RICK ELMENDORF, Judge JOHN COLE, and DAN HARMON were at Judge COLE's residence when DAN HARMON suggested that he be made special prosecutor for the IVES-HENRY case.

Since the beginning of the investigation by the "special prosecutor," the case has become riddled with rumors and innuendos. Special Prosecutor HARMON and assistant, RICHARD GARRETT, requested assistance from the Arkansas State Police, yet continuously withheld information from them. A gag order was placed on the case, yet Little Rock FBI investigation reveals that the gag order was violated by DAN HARMON who would release information to the press on a regular basis.

67c Since the beginning of the FBI investigation, December 1993, numerous individuals interviewed have provided information alleging the involvement of [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] in drug trafficking as well as involvement in the deaths of captioned victims.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney RICHARD GARRETT appeared on an airing of "Unsolved Mysteries" requesting that individuals with "tips" on captioned victims' deaths call in information. RICHARD GARRETT went on to say that it was believed that the victims discovered a methamphetamine lab and one of them was accidentally killed and something had to be done with the other one.

Due to the extreme interest in this case by the United States Attorney's Office, the Little Rock FBI would appreciate these leads being handled as expeditiously as possible.

Attached to this memo is an interview of [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] regarding injuries sustained by KEITH MC KASKLE.

Statements made by [REDACTED] are very conclusive in pointing to a suspect in the murder of KEITH MC KASKLE.

b7C
b7D The assailant in the MC KASKLE murder was a much smaller individual than KEITH MC KASKLE. Due to MC KASKLE's physical prowess, doubt was raised regarding one person being able to kill KEITH MC KASKLE.

The importance of this statement by [REDACTED] sheds light on his opinions on captioned case. [REDACTED] opinions on captioned case pointed to the victims being in a marijuana-induced sleep while being passed over by a train.

[REDACTED] reported that she and KEVIN IVES [REDACTED] before KEVIN was killed. KEVIN IVES would [REDACTED]

KEVIN IVES was not allowed to have people at his house when his parents were working. Since his parents were working, KEVIN [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] advised that KEVIN IVES never appeared to have any problems. He was always very polite and courteous to everyone. (10)

b7c
b7D In approximately May, 1987, KEVIN IVES got a car for his birthday. From that period of time until his death, KEVIN went wild. KEVIN became more secretive about what he was doing. [REDACTED] described KEVIN as "changed." [REDACTED] was aware of KEVIN IVES' and DON HENRY's relationship prior to both the boys' deaths. Both the boys, as recalled by [REDACTED] smoked dope and drank alcohol. After KEVIN got his vehicle, [REDACTED] believed that he may have been doing harder drugs.

[REDACTED] KEVIN got killed, [REDACTED] KEVIN was very serious and told [REDACTED] he had to [REDACTED] reported that KEVIN never [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] regarding DON's and KEVIN's deaths. DON and KEVIN knew something was going down regarding a drug-money exchange in the woods. The boys were attempting to rip off the drugs or the money when they were killed.

In closing, [REDACTED] advised that no one has ever spoken to her regarding the death investigation of KEVIN IVES and
